Dear Patron,

Do you remember the sitcom "Cheers" from the 1980s? It had a memorable theme song with the following chorus:

Sometimes you want to go
Where everybody knows your name
And they're always glad you came
You want to be where you can see
Our troubles are all the same
You want to be where everybody knows your name

There is a comfort in being known, in not being anonymous. It is one of the perks of living in Rangeley. We share with one another in both the joys and the sorrows of our lives. Here at the Rangeley Public Library, we are very serious about knowing our patrons. If you have been here a few times, you are very likely to be greeted by name when you walk in the door (and if one of us with a poorer memory for names, like me, has forgotten, feel free to remind us!). We want you to know that we are glad you came. You are one of us. You belong here. We miss you when you are gone, and we will celebrate when you return. Come home to Rangeley Public Library.

See you soon,

Janet Wilson, Director

Social Media Tutorial
Thurs. Aug. 1, 10:30 AM

This class covers social media including Facebook for businesses and individuals, Twitter, etc. Discover the lesser-known details of presenting your business or yourself in a positive and effective way on Facebook, Google, Twitter, etc. Get answers to your questions about using other social media platforms. This free class is presented by John Tarbox and Carolyn Smith, Americorps Digital Literacy instructors, and is part of the Maine Digital Inclusion Initiative.
Antarctica Comes Alive
Weds. Aug. 7th, 6:00 PM

Ed Webster, climber, author, and photographer, visited Antarctica twice in 2018 as a polar history lecturer on adventure cruise ships for Quark Expeditions. Webster will recount historic voyages and eventual discovery of Antarctica by 18th and 19th Century explorers. His presentation will include original archival photographs taken by these world-famous adventurers, pictures by scientific researchers, his own modern images, plus superb wildlife videos.

History of the Farmington Fire Department
Weds. Aug. 14, 6:00 PM

Ruth McCleery Watson will share from her father Farmington Fire Chief Robert McCleery's book which details 150 years of local firefighting history. Included are the Kempton Lumber Company fire of 1939 and the 1941 fire at the Rangeley Baptist Church. Also of local interest is the fire of 1971 in downtown Phillips which burned for 4 1/2 hours and consumed much of Main Street. This presentation will honor Fire Chief McCleery and firefighters everywhere who put their lives on the line on a daily basis.

William Morris & 20th Century Vaudeville
Weds. Aug. 21st, 6:00 PM

Revisit with Bill Berlinghoff the days before television, radio, and "talkies", when entertainment was always live and hardly ever in your living room. Bill will discuss his great uncle, William Morris, the greatest agent in vaudeville, and will also share some rare memorabilia from the heyday of live variety entertainment.

Mainers on the Titanic
Weds. Aug. 28th, 6:00 PM

Author Mac Smith tells the stories of passengers on the Titanic who had ties to Maine. These include both wealthy summer visitors and year-round residents. Mac reveals the agonizing day-to-day wait... of Mainers for news of their loved ones, and tells stories of passengers from boarding to sinking, rescue, and arrival back home.
