

Rangeley Public Library

DECEMBER 2019 NEWSLETTER

Dear Patron,

In this season of giving, the Rangeley Public Library would like to offer a new "gift" to Rangeley area residents. Knowing that it is difficult for some patrons to get out to the library, especially in wintry weather, we are now offering free delivery of library materials to those who are homebound and those who find it difficult to navigate the snow and ice. Up to five items (including books, magazines, DVDs, and puzzles) will be delivered to patron homes as frequently as once every two weeks at a mutually convenient time and date.

Materials may be viewed in the online catalog on our website under the resources tab. Also under the resources tab is a listing of our new additions to the collection along with a description of each. Patrons may call 864-5529 to request the desired resources, or just let us know what types of materials are of interest, and a staff member will assist in choosing appropriate items.

Please feel free to make suggestions for how we might improve this service. May you enjoy the upcoming holidays.

Janet Wilson, Director

LIBRARY FUNDRAISING

Annual Holiday Book Sale

From now until the beginning of January, the annual holiday book sale will be set up in our lobby. At this sale we offer our best used books. Many of these are books which look just like they did when they were purchased. They make great gifts at prices well below their original values.

Items with Rangeley Public Library Logos make great gifts for all of the library lovers on your list.
